In the still at the time were Pat Brown and his wife, who were captured, and one man made his escape. Brown was brought to Walhalla and plead guilty to distilling, but Mrs. Brown was released without formal arrest. Brown is still in jail, having not made bond for appearance at the Federal Court. On Saturday, on Boatright Mountain, the same officers entered a plant, not in operation, and destroyed seven fermenters and 800 gallons of beer. Ten gallons of corn whiskey was found about 200 yards from the plant and this was captured. No arrests were made.

It is equally valuable for adults and children, and may be given to young children with implicit confidence as it contains no harmful drug. Sold by all dealers.

Japanese Servants Gone.

Newport, R. I., Oct. 7.—Comment is being made on the fact that during the past few months the Japanese servants of army and navy officers stationed here have disappeared one by one, until now there is not a single servant of the nationality employed in the official colony.

A year ago the Japanese servants were very numerous, and were often seen about the fortifications. One servant, said to have been detected by a navy officer sending reports to Japan, was summarily dismissed, but whether all other Japanese were given notice to leave is unknown.

The best plaster. A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Liniment and bound on over the affected parts is superior to a plaster and costs only one-tenth as much. For sale by all dealers.
